Letter from A. C. Duff Esq., I.C.S., Collector of Bellary Ref. C. No.6194/22-A.6 dated the 15th Feb. 1923.

file & W. hereafter

In continuation of para 5 of my letter C. No. 6194/22-A.-6 dated 5-2-23 I submit the following report with regard to the suspension of kists for the current year in the eastern taluks:-

(1) Siruguppa.

This taluk consists largely of black cotton soil soil. During the year there was a rainfall of 15.28 inches as against an average of 23.53 inches. There was very little rainfall in August and September and the rains in October were very late for the hingari crops. The deficient rainfall and the absence of dew in the months of January and February also hindered the growth of white cholam and cotton crops. Various diseases and insect pests rendered the condition still worse. The white cholam crop has already faded and is expected to yield 0.3 annas outturn, in most of the villages. In some of the villages, no ears have formed and none will; there the plants are being or have already been removed, so that what small fodder value they have may not be lost. In other parts the ears are of very poor quality. The leaves and stalks are attacked by pests and sugar disease and are dry and brittle. The ears are almost worthless owing to green fly and caterpillar pests. Cotton crop is not in any way better. In many places the plants are only 6" to 9" high and the leaves look shrunk and diseased. The yield will be very poor ranging below 4 annas.

Fasli 1330 was a famine year and the collection of Land Revenue was suspended in 82 villages out of 98. In the following year the outturn was on the whole good and the suspended revenue was also collected along with the kists of fasli 1331. This double collection has left comparatively little in the hands of the poorer ryots whose mainstay is dry cultivation. With the miserable yield of this year the ryots find it difficult to pay the Government dues.

The Divisional Officer and the Tahsildar have toured in the Taluk inspecting the crops in all the affected villages. They recommend that the collection of kists may be postponed to the next fasli in 58 villages specified in the list enclosed. The average outturn in all of them is below 4 annas. The Divisional Officer has personally checked the outturn in all the villages. During my tour in the last month, I inspected the crops in detail in 10 of these villages. I quite agree with the Divisional Officer and consider that suspension of kists till next year will for the present meet the needs of the taluk. I have accordingly postponed the collection of all kists till the end of April in these 58 villages. The sanction of of Government may be obtained for suspending them till next fasli. The amount to be suspended is Rs. 1,04,085-13-4 A statement showing the provisional demand and the amount to be suspended in each village is enclosed.

The Divisional Officer also recommends that in respect of 9 villages noted in the margin, kists may be collected in 2 instalments in March and April instead of three in February, March and April. In these villages, though the white cholam crop has faded, the cotton crop looks fairly healthy. The average outturn may be from 4-7 annas. In 8 of these villages Land Revenue of Fasli 1330 was postponed and realised in Fasli 1331. The ryots expect to get some cotton in about 20 days and will be able to pay the kists in March. I have therefore postponed February kist and have ordered the collection of kists in two instalments in March and April. I request that my action may be approved. Information about provisional demand and the amount suspended in these 9 villages will be obtained and furnished. The Divisional Officer states that in the remaining villages the average outturn is expected to exceed 4 annas and that no concession appears necessary.

3. Nadivi.
4. Nagarahal.
5. B. Sugur.
6. Venkatapuram
7. Nasangam.
8. Alasanur.
9. Agasanur.

2. Alur taluk.

The South-West Monsoon disappointed the ryots. The extent sown with mungari crops was small. The North East monsoon did not hold out bright prospects. There was practically no rain in September and the rain in each of the months of October and November was about 4 inches at long intervals. The ryots waited till the end of October and though there was then no sufficient moisture in the soil, they sowed cholam and cotton. The rain in November enabled the seeds to germinate but it was neither sufficient nor uniform. White cholam crop began to fade and the diseases rendered their condition worse. The cotton crop is stunted in growth and is in no way promising. The Divisional Officer reports that the ryots are not in a position to pay the kist now as they have not reaped the hingari harvest. He recommends the postponement of February kist in 47 villages. He has himself inspected the crops in all these villages and I have personally inspected 20 of them. I have for the present ordered the postponement of February kist in 47 villages till April. I expect further suspension will have tobe given and have called for a further report after detailed inspection of crops. The provisional demand and the amount postponed are noted in the statement enclosed.

3. Bellary taluk.

On the whole Bellary Taluk is better than Siruguppa and Alur taluks. TheDivisional Officer and the Tahsildar are making crop inspection in this taluk. On account of the late rains, the ryots have not yet reaped the hingari harvest. The Divisional Officer and the Tahsildar recommend that February kist may be postponed for 1 month in 81 villages. Pending detailed proposals from the Divisional Officer, I have postponed February kist in 81 villages for 1 month. I have inspected 22 villages of this taluk in January last.

4. Adoni Taluk.

The Tahsildar recommends that the collection of kists may be postponed to next fasli in Soganur and Tsallakudlur villages which are the worst affected. The condition of both mungari and hingari crops are bad. The average outturn is below 4 annas. Last year also theoutturn was poor. The Divisional Officer reports that he will personally inspect the villages and submit a report. For the present, February kist has been postponed till April in the 2 villages.

The provisional demand and the amount suspended in the villages of Bellary and Adoni taluks will be obtained from the Tahsildars and furnished.
